

WAGE INCREASE HEARINGS MAR. 6

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hearings on applications for increases or decreases in wages for all classes of railway employees except those in train and engine and yard service will be started here March 6, the United States railroad labor board announced today.

The hearings for increases or decreases will be held simultaneously at the board's office, for all carriers and employees who have filed applications on or before February 20.

At present, the board announced, 45 cities and railroads out of 298 in the country have filed applications for wage cuts in final form for certain classes of employees, while 15 unions, including the Federated Shop Crafts, have filed applications for wage increases. Other carriers and other employee organizations are about to file applications, the board said, in a resolution adopted today fixing the date for the hearings.

"KIT" HALL JAILED AFTER HOLD-UP IN DEFAULT OF FINES

Is Heavily Penalized for Wild Escapade Several Days Ago.

W. C. (Kit) Hall, former Danville man who several days ago created an uproar in a Baltimore near-beer saloon during a "hold-up" and caused a panic by bringing a blackjack and pistol into play together with his chauffeur, Edward Castell, are prisoners in a Baltimore jail in default of fines imposed for the wild escapade.

Hall, who was at one time an officer on the local police force, later became a member of the state prohibition department. He figured prominently in the killing of Lawrence Hudson and Raymond Shackleford, alleged bootleggers, in the Shenandoah valley. The following account is taken from a Baltimore paper:

"In default of heavy fines imposed in Western Police Court, Federal prohibition Agent William C. Hall and his chauffeur, Edward Castell, were committed to jail yesterday on charges of assault and drunkenness growing from gunplay and disorder in the near-beer saloon of Nettie Marseberger, 106 North Pine street, Hall, who is not known to Maryland prohibition enforcement officials, stated that he was operating in Baltimore on special orders from Prohibition Commissioner Hayes.

"Hall and the chauffeur entered the Marseberger saloon and ordered food. After eating both are alleged to have drawn revolvers and ordered Walter J. Rogers, 716 West Fayette street, a waiter, to hold up his hands. George Conway, a customer, entering the saloon at this juncture, was ordered to stand facing the wall with his hands up.

"Instead of obeying, Conway grappled with Hall, thinking that bandits had invaded the saloon. Hall is alleged to have drawn a blackjack, which was wrested from him. While Hall and Conway were fighting Castell came to the aid of his companion and Rogers fled from the building. He was soon followed by Conway, still carrying Hall's blackjack.

"As they rushed from the saloon in pursuit of Rogers and Conway, the prohibition men brushed against the shoe display of Samuel Lesser, 108 North Pine street. When Lesser protested, it is alleged, the guns were directed at him. The store proprietor fled into his shop, locking the door behind him.

"The roar in the saloon and the sight of the armed men on the street threw the neighborhood into panic.

Western Police Station was notified and Sergeant Brandt and Ludwig were sent to the scene. They arrested Hall and Castell.

Both were charged in Western Police Court with being drunk. Hall was charged with attempting to strike Conway with the blackjack and both were charged with attempting to shoot Rogers. Hall was fined $50 and costs for attempting to use the blackjack and was also assessed $25 and costs for drunkenness. Castell was fined $25 for drunkenness.

"When arrested Castell is alleged to have carried a partly-filled flask of liquor in his pocket."

TEAM CAPTAINS HAVE A SUPPER

Twelve team captains and an average team membership of five composed the party which dined at the Burton hotel yesterday evening in the interest of the membership campaign of the Young Men's Business Club, which commences tomorrow. The team captains were the guests of C. T. Eldridge and they were the hosts of the members of their respective teams.

General instructions in respect to the campaign were given by W. H. Beirick, Jr., chairman of the membership committee, and talks breathing the utmost optimism were made to the workers. A list of nearly twelve hundred prospective members was reviewed and the names of all prospects assigned to the several teams, according to the district plan which has been worked out and which admits the minimum of duplication of effort. Each member present constituted himself a committee of one to invite friends and fellow members to the big rally at the Elk's club this evening.

The club expressed its appreciation of the recent Rotary sermon preached by Parson Duffuse.

The meeting had so many odds and ends of business to dispose of, after the serious item of dispatching the various courses provided, that the speakers did not find much scope for their entertaining talents. A few of the old favorites were sung with appropriate and fervor, however.

One of the speakers was a blessing before the meal and did it as if he were accustomed to it.

Rubber Bathing Suit For Winter

Miss Persia Tuma, of Riverside Drive, New York, has the winter tourists at Atlantic City agape with her new bathing suit. It's made of rubber. She says it retains the body heat and is just the thing for snow plunges. She didn't say the open work stockings retain the heat.

ROTARIANS FEED EVERY OTHER WEEK

Burning Question Is Decided At Regular Luncheon Provided Yesterday.

At the bi-weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at the Hotel Burton yesterday the burning issue which has divided the organization for weeks—whether the luncheons shall be weekly or bi-weekly—was decided in favor of adherence to the present bi-weekly plan following by the club since its organization. The vote was 28 to 20 as reported by the tellers. As presented, the proposal was one merely for or against a three months trial of the weekly plan, now in vogue among most of the clubs of this district.

Vice President C. G. Holland presided yesterday in the absence of President Wiseman and injected a considerate pep into the procedure. A large percentage of the membership maintained their attendance record, but Powie Conway, Ayres Starling and several others were among the absences. The Rotarians were glad to greet Strath Owens and Harry Fitzgerald, who have been on the sick list and also expressed sympathy for Jim Pritchett, Jr., whose little son, James III, is still ill, a situation which detained his father from the last luncheon.

The club is arranging for another Ladies' Night at the Golf Club on Truthful Day, or rather on the evening of the 21st, but the details of the plans are shrouded in mystery. Members are whetting their hatchets attending their cherry trees for this occasion. They are prepared for any form of celebration except to tell the truth to their spouses without reservation.

Several noteworthy accessions to the Nison Club were reported at the luncheon, and the organization appears to be taking hold in a way to assure the operation of its beneficial influence.

The Rotarians received and reluctantly accepted an invitation from the Kiwanis Club to be their guests at a luncheon and will be there with honor.

Announcement was made of the prospective rotary district convention to be held in Winston-salem, and all who desire to go are asked to notify the secretary in order that reservations in a special Pullman train may be arranged for those going.

A novel feature of the luncheon was a series of short talks by several members as to their own lines of business. Herbert Henkle, Jim Thomas and Charlie Clement illustrating their belief that brevity is the soul of wit. The only criticism of the talks was that they did not adequately cover the ground. The underlying purpose of these talks is to give every other member a larger and better conception of what the other fellow has to do, to know and to contend with, thereby creating closed sympathy and understanding those who fancy that they alone have a hard lot. The time was so limited for these talks that the talkers cried on the side of laconism, rather than of oratory.

Think Senate Will Ratify

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—With universal sentiment prevailing among senators that the arms conference ending today made progress toward bettering world affairs, a general disposition is manifested to study carefully and compare the resultant agreements before expressing conclusive opinions regarding their merits. There is desire manifest to await the further crystallization of the reception of them throughout the country.

Friends and foes of the various treaties virtually agree that all will be ratified eventually.

There is no antagonism in sight to the naval reduction agreement. The alliance pact may meet with some opposition on the ground that it savors of possible force.

"The naval treaty is all right," said Senator Borah, leader of the irreconcilables, this evening.

This indicates the elimination of the last vestige of possible criticism. It was indicated this afternoon that the Republican leaders will accept reservations to the four-power Pacific pact. Discussing this point with some of the majority, Senator Lodge made it plain that an interpretive reservation, aimed at something which the framers did not believe exists, will be taken in good faith.

Members of the American delegation insist there is nothing in the four-power pact which could possibly require the United States to use force for the benefit of any other signatory nation. Such being the case, it is argued, there is no objection to a reservation clearly stipulating that there may be no utilization of force except with the express consent of Congress.

With the employment of force eliminated, and the Chinese adjustment fairly satisfactory, the treaties become acceptable to McNary and others who believed the Japanese homeland should not be promised protection.

The treaties may not be sent to the Senate before early next week. The American delegation must formulate and sign a report to the president. Some of them say this will require at least a week. The treaties, records, minutes and other details will be submitted to the president along with the report.

Some Republican leaders favor bringing in the naval reduction treaty and obtain its early discussion. They say this would be valuable in preparation of the naval appropriation bill, although that measure will not become effective until July 1. The four-power pact and the others would come along later.

Gravest Menace To Public Health

Malnutrition—Cause of Majority of Ills—Direct Cause of Weak, Run-down, Nervous Conditions.

New Food Remedy Developed at Medical College Philadelphia.

Do you know the gravest menace to the health of the nation today? Malnutrition. Scientists have proved that it is the cause of 50 per cent. of our bodily ills; that children, as well as adults, have been surviving literally starved—not from lack of food, but from failure of the food they eat to nourish their bodies.

Recognizing this great opportunity offered to our people who need strength and vitality, as under weight, run down, anemic, or who have under-nourished children or feeble old people to get a guaranteed strength and body-builder that has been proved by the Nutritional Expert of unquestionable authority—adv.

NEGRO IS ELECTROCUTED. RICHMOND, Feb. 7.—Edmund Thompson, negro, went to his death in the electric chair at the Virginia State prison, here early this morning. Thompson paid the penalty for shooting a youth in Fincastle two years ago.

Before SUSTO was placed upon the market, however, a Professor of Physiological Chemistry at one of America's greatest Medical Colleges was employed to ascertain its worth, and practical tests were made upon a number of patients of all ages and various states of health. The results were marvelous. His report shows that under-weight children, as well as adults, increased their weight to normal and strength, energy, and health replaced weakness and run-down, debilitated, anemic conditions.

This is really a great opportunity offered to our people who need strength and vitality, as under weight, run down, anemic, or who have under-nourished children or feeble old people to get a guaranteed strength and body-builder that has been proved by the Nutritional Expert of unquestionable authority—adv.

And Round Out Face And Figure If You Are Weak, Thin, Or Emaciated Due To Causes Explained Below

Get a FREE $1.00 Package of Genuine Yeast Vitaminine Tablets Today as Explained Below—Try Them for Ten Days and Watch the Results

Science has at last shown how we sometimes grow weak, thin and emaciated on an abundance of food (lacking in vitamins) while with a much smaller amount of food, rich in vitamins, we may quickly take on good firm flesh, increase in weight, and make a remarkable gain in strength, energy and endurance, provided your blood contains sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable your body to assimilate your food properly.

Without organic iron both food and vitamins are absolutely useless as your body cannot change lifeless inert food matter into living cells and tissues unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood.

For centuries scientists tried in vain to make organic iron. At last the problem was solved so that you may now obtain pure organic iron in the form of the iron found in our dragglet under the name of "Narated Iron."

Mary Earns A Million A Year But Doug Foot The Bills

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—"Have few things in the home. Use and enjoy them all daily."

"And, above all, keep them in order."

These are the principles, expressed by Mary Pickford, upon which she and Douglas Fairbanks operate one of the most magnificently simple and well-managed homes in America.

"Orderliness is the keystone of a successful domestic structure, whether it be shack or castle," continued Mary Pickford, screen celebrity and highest salaried woman in the world.

She has an annual income of over a million and a $350,000 establishment in the fashionable Beverly Hills district.

The Fairbanks home isn't run on rigid budget system, although economy is the watchword. Doug pays all running expenses, because, as Mary says, "he's old-fashioned enough to want to do this without aid from his wife."

Abel, major domo of the household, does all the buying as well as the "futtering"—and that's no mean job because of the number of guests constantly being entertained.

Mary Pickford conducted me about the 11-acre grounds and the 14-room house, the remodeling and decoration of which she had personally supervised. There was nothing superfluous, no clutter or finery things, no evidences of ostentation. Every room and nook corroborated her passion for the orderliness she was stressing.

GARES IS ELECTROCUTED.

Gares' arrest followed the discovery of the child's body in a suitcase in a closet of the hotel room occupied by him. She had been attacked and then murdered.

SIX KNOWN DEAD IN RICHMOND FIRE; 35 ARE MISSING

Lexington Hotel Burns to Ground—Other Buildings Destroyed.

RICHMOND, Feb. 7.—Six known dead, 33 reported missing or unaccounted for, and 35 known injured, 14 of whom are believed to be fatally hurt, is the toll of the fire which swept over an area of half a city block here early this morning, destroying the Lexington hotel and several other buildings and entailing a loss variously estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000.

The fire was discovered at 4:10 o'clock this morning in the hotel and rapidly spread to adjoining property, other buildings being destroyed or gutted were the Pearl Laundry, the plant of Clyde W. Saunders, printers; the Savings Bank of Richmond, E. branch; Cabell and company and E. R. Lafettery and company and the Co-operative Producers exchange. Twenty-two patients were at one hospital, the original three are at the Memorial, two at the Johnston-Willis and one at the Grace hospital.

At police headquarters a force of men still is busy in an effort to check off those accounted for on the list of guests in the hotel. From 75 to 85 persons were known to have been in the hotel when the fire began. The dead are:

Hiram S. Austin, Fincastle, Va.; M. J. Fox, Williamsport, Pa.; J. M. Thomas, sheriff of Albemarle County, Va.; E. T. Cox, Richmond, Va.; F. L. Shaw, C. and O. railway conductor, Richmond, Va., and T. D. Pierler, Yonkers, N. Y. The bodies of last named three still are in the ruins, according to police.

Those reported missing or unaccounted for now:

D. E. Samuel, Ash, Richmond; D. E. Amos, Charleston, S. C.; C. C. Eberly, address not given; E. J. Bush, Richmond; W. E. Hubble, Richmond; T. N. Riley, South Carolina; I. H. C.; J. E. Ford, Rockingham, N. C.; T. Rees, Hinton, W. Va., M. Austin, Philadelphia.

Seventy-two guests were registered at the hotel. Smoke from the stars of the basement gave the first warning of the fire to T. D. Frey, night clerk, who sounded an alarm. Summons of the fire apparatus, he returned to the hotel and aroused many guests.

Improvements and renovation were being made in the building when telephone switchboards had been disconnected and new installations and the elevator had not been operated in several weeks. There was no opportunity to warn those occupying the rooms on the upper floors.

Fanned by a draught in the temporarily abandoned elevator shaft, the fire leaped toward the roof. In a moment the five avenue escape, a front, central and rear stairs, and two fire escapes at front and rear were cut off. Guests rushed from their roofs to find the dimly-lighted hallways and corridors filled with smoke. The stairs were pits of flame, roaring upward through the semi-darkness.

A few found time to seize blankets and other wraps, but the majority had only in their night clothing. The windows of the hotel were filled with frenzied guests climbing outward on the sills to escape the creep of the flames and crying for help.

Five firemen were injured when a part of the hotel walls collapsed. The injuries were not serious, and the men were taken to their homes. Director of Public Safety Meyers announced late today the appointment of a special committee to investigate the catastrophe.

THE UNLOVED WIFE

At The Majestic, Feb. 13th and 14th. Matinee and Night

The best of the latest dramas, "The Unloved Wife," a play in three acts by Florence Edna May, comes to the Majestic, Feb. 13th and 14th with matinees daily for ladies only although at night everybody over sixteen years of age can secure seats. The play is new and it is a success because of two essential reasons—the play is remarkable and because of the acting, you receive an evening's enjoyment.

"The Unloved Wife" is decidedly one of the best things of the season

It is a thrilling comedy drama with some enchanting stage pictures and there is even more than the usual interest in it. Every one who has a ticket in other cities says: "You must see 'The Unloved Wife' when it comes to town. It is wonderful." Many patrons of the theatre have asked why they don't print the story of the play? There are several reasons, but there isn't any likelihood that Miss May, the authoress, or her representatives will make any statement about it. It will remain just another mystery as the play is written on the subject of marriage, what wedded couple have not their family secrets or mysteries, as you may term it. A good company of Broadway players assure a remarkable evening's entertainment.

N. C. CHAMPS DEFEATED COLORED FANS SEE GAME

A most exciting game was played at Wilson's hall last night when the Livingstone College colored basketball team went down to defeat the Danville five. From beginning to end the game was full of excitement. The first half ended 12 all. The second half started with both teams going at top speed in an effort to gain the lead. Livingstone was successful in getting a four point lead, this was soon evened up by Danville, and again the visitors took a two point lead as fast as the home team evened the score, the visitors would take another aggravating two-point lead.

Just as Gillispie, of Danville, made a desperate try for a field goal, a personal foul was called on his opponent for holding. This entitled Danville to two free throws. As Danville was being placed on line, time keepers called time up. The players stood at limestone 25—Danville 27, but Danville made good both free throws, thereby tying the score again and causing an extra five minutes to be played in the extra time both teams traveled at heart breaking speed, and Danville landed two field goals and one foul, while the visitors gathered in on one field goal and a foul and the game ended with the two-point lead in Danville's favor 34—32. From the showing made by the boys last night, it looks as the Dr. Bullock will be able to boast a team equal to his wonder team of last year. The same two teams will meet again tonight for a second game.

Egyptian Revolt Menaces British World Power

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Egypt today is second Ireland, bigger and more dangerous, menacing the peace and safety of the British empire.

Egypt wants its independence. And it has 12,000,000 people, mostly Mohammedans, while southern Irishmen similarly struggling for liberty numbered only 3,000,000.

Religion is a big factor in the Egyptian situation, for trouble with the Moslems there means unrest among the Mohammedans of India. A ticklish complication is that Egypt contains the Suez Canal, the jugular vein of the British empire and the route to India.

What has happened reads like an extract from the story of Ireland—the rise of martial law, suppression of native press, arrest and deportation of Moslem leaders, armored patrols trolling the streets of Cairo and Alexandria, machine guns and airplanes and naval forces mobilized, peaceful demonstrations and riots that have been bloody.

Egypt Starts to Use Boycott

Boycott is the newest weapon the Egyptians have adopted—the Sinn Feiners did with United as Ghandhi's followers are doing in India.

The boycott, which was read in every mosque. And the leaders who signed it were promptly arrested and every Arabic paper publishing it was suppressed. The closing sentence of the manifesto was this:

"God forbid that your bodies should touch English goods after today and touch your hands should co-operate with any Englishman."

Leaders in the Egyptian unrest are Sayid Zaghlul Pasha, representative of the extreme nationalists and Adly Pasha, representative of the moderates.

Zaghlul, a pure-blooded Egyptian, was once minister of education and has tremendous influence throughout the Mohammedan world. Adly is a cousin of the present sultan, vice president of the legislative assembly, minister of foreign affairs, and premier until his recent resignation.

Egypt has no premier now, for no Egyptian statesman will form a cabinet since Adly refused, because they argue it would be recognition of British sovereignty. The British high commissioner is Lord Allenby.

Britain's real troubles with Egypt date from the time of the war. For 80 years Egypt had been nominally a part of the Turkish empire, but had its own khedive.

In 1882 Britain occupied Egypt, gradually tightening its hold. When the war broke out in 1914 and the khedive proclaimed allegiance to Turkey, Britain deposed him, seated a new sultan and established a protectorate.

Two days after the armistice, Zaghlul Pasha, in the name of the Egyptian people, called upon Great Britain to give the country complete independence as a reward for the admitted help Egypt had given the allies.

The demand was ignored. Trouble started and reprisals followed. Zaghlul was deported to Malta, later released and recently was deported to Ceylon.

England tried to solve the Egyptian problem by enacting a commission in Turkey. Britain deposed him, seated a new sultan and established a protectorate.

Two days after the armistice, Zaghlul Pasha, in the name of the Egyptian people, called upon Great Britain to give the country complete independence as a reward for the admitted help Egypt had given the allies.

The main bone of contention was military occupation, which the Egyptians figured made all the other proposed concessions useless. Adly immediately resigned as premier, thus joining Zaghlul and throwing the moderates and the extremists together against what they considered common enemies.

COMPULSORY EDUCATIONAL BILL PASSED

But Each County and City Has Control of Matter—Rent Bill Introduced

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 7.—The legislature today ordered that new bills shall not be introduced in either branch after February 18. The session is practically half through with few of the important measures yet out of committee. The House assumed control of the compulsory educational bill and passes the measure after amending it so as to give each county and city control of the matter.

Governor Trinkle sent to the Senate the nomination of J. H. Hall, of Portsmouth, to be State labor commissioner for the term beginning February 1. Delegate Sinclair, of Prince William, offered a bill which seeks to limit the rent of property to 15 per cent. of the assessed value of small property and 20 per cent. of larger apartments and flats. The provisions of the bill do not effect business property.

and Campbell and Campbell, of Yancey City.

In a signed statement last night Gov. Russell expressed the belief that Campbell and Campbell would not appear as attorneys for Mrs. Birkhead.

In a statement on the subject today, T. H. Campbell, senior member of the firm said:

"I have represented Miss Birkhead's father and her grandfather, as attorney and when the young woman asked me to represent her in the case, I gladly consented. I was approached by anybody else in the matter.

There is no politics or black mail in the case, insofar as I am concerned.

DENIES THAT POLITICIAN ARE BACK OF SUIT

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 7.—About the State capitol where the legislature is now in session the scandal connecting the name of Governor Lee M. Russell and his former stenographer, Miss Frances Birkhead, who has sued him in federal court for $100,000 charging seduction, was the general topic of discussion today. Sentiment seemed to be divided whether impeachment proceedings should be instituted or the matter first allowed to be threshed out in the courts. The governor's adherents said to be strong in the Senate and would likely attempt to block any hasty action.

Federal court will hold its next session here in May and the case is expected to be called at that time. The governor's defense will be in the hands of Judge Pat Henry of Vicksburg and James Cassidy of Brookhaven, while the suit on behalf of Miss Birkhead will be prosecuted by Thomas R. Foster of Vicksburg.

MABEL NORMAND FAINTS AT TAYLOR FUNERAL TUESDAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 7.—Miss Mabel Normand, motion picture actress who visited the home of William Desmond Taylor just before he was shot and killed last Wednesday, fainted today when she viewed his body in the church vestibule after the funeral services, and had to be removed to her home. Henry Peavey, Taylor's negro houseman, became hysterical and had to be taken back into the church and quieted as he was removed.

The large auditorium of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Pro-Cathedral was filled with friends of the dead man and with other persons. Of the many prominent motion picture women names have been brought into the investigation, Miss Normand was the only one in attendance, but almost every one in filmdom attended. There were scores of motion picture stars, nearly every director now in Los Angeles and many other persons widely known over the country, including writers, producers and theatrical people.

A crowd estimated by the police at more than 30,000 persons filled the adjoining streets and overflowed into Pershing square.

AMERICAN REPLY TO INVITATION TO BE MADE FRIDAY

No Intimation As to Nature of Response Has Been Given.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—American response to the invitation of the allied supreme council to be represented at the Genoa economic conference will probably be announced Friday. It was said today at the White House that at the same time it was stated officially that the delay in framing the American reply had not been occasioned by any connection with legislation for the funding of the debt of foreign nations to this country.

No indication of the nature of the American government's response to the invitation was given today but the belief has been expressed in official circles that the attendance of delegates actually representing the United States at Genoa, as differentiated from unofficial observers, might be dependent upon the scope of the proposed discussions. In this connection it was said in some quarters that last minute developments might determine this country's attitude.

Matters likely to be discussed at the Genoa conference were reviewed extensively tonight by the federal reserve board in its monthly bulletin for February in which it covered a broad field of European economic problems such as German reparations, the existing fiscal affairs of the various nations, the gold standard and exchange stabilization.

According to the board, Russian and German questions are "practically inevitable elements" in the existing European economic situation. The issues at stake on these points, however, the board declared were political in the broad sense rather than economic and for this reason the belief was advanced that any plan adopted affecting the rehabilitation of Russia, Germany, Austria and South-Eastern Europe generally would not be very likely to succeed because of the natural limitations to which it would be subject.

Importance of the reparations question to European conditions was stressed by the board which called attention to "the unsatisfactory position" in which the question had been left.

"Within the past month or more," the board said, "it has been contended more positively than ever before that the reparations problem is an almost inevitable element in any discussion which aims to develop a general solution of European questions at large."

Considering the best way for Germany to settle with France during the next few years, the board discussed a possible extension of the method provided in the Wiesbaden agreement under which payments would be made in kind in lieu of cash but added that "payments in kind will not, however, ultimately solve the French situation, because of the large French public debt."

A fundamental issue to be dealt with at Genoa, the board asserted, would undoubtedly be the restoration of the gold standard or some plan for the stabilization of exchange. No program for European currency reform, however, has any chance of success, the board contended, until some sort of an international agreement makes possible the balancing of budgets and the consequent cessation of inflation through the elimination of expenditures in excess of the ability of the governments to pay.

Any permanent rehabilitation of credit and currency systems according to the best opinion, the board continued, would necessitate a return to a gold basis but many complex problems would first have to be solved in connection with reparations payments, with domestic and foreign indebtedness and with the effect of national policies upon the amount and direction of current expenditures.

"The issues involved," the board said, "necessitate far-reaching international adjustments that are likely to be the subject of prolonged negotiations. Extraordinary interference with power, traffic money or spend it rightly regarded as an interference with the sovereignty of State, and can only be justified in extreme cases."

Throws Himself Underneath Train

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 7.—Suicidal mania from which he had been suffering for nearly two weeks is believed to have led J. A. Broyal, former engineer at White Oak mills, to throw himself under the wheels of a Southern railway locomotive near the Central Carolina fair grounds early Monday morning.

The dead body of Mr. Broyal was found horribly mangled, beside the tracks shortly after daybreak Monday. The head was completely severed from the body. Both legs were also severed.

Dr. George H. Robertson, coroner, inspected the body shortly after its discovery and decided that the cause of the death was so obvious that an inquest was unnecessary. It was removed to the Hinton Teague and Amos embalmed after having been identified by Gordon Broyal of Hinesboro, son of the unfortunate man.

PIUS XI REGRETS AMERICA WAS NOT REPRESENTED

ROME, Feb. 7.—(UPI)—Pope Pius XI today let it be known that he was profoundly distressed and disappointed that America was not represented at the conclave which elected him on Monday. Putting his arms around Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, the new pontiff said:

"It was a great personal sorrow that you were not present."

The holy father was at pains to explain to the American cardinal that the question of prolonging the conclave had been discussed very seriously by the cardinals, but that the constitutions were so rigid that they were unable to see their way out.

"Every member of the conclave," said Pope Pius, "wanted the final ballot delayed so that you could participate. But that would have contravened the terms of the constitutions; therefore it was voted to go ahead."

In conversation with the Associated Press, Cardinal O'Connell said that the pontiff spoke in the most affectionate terms of America and had manifested the deepest interest in the Washington conference for the limitation of armaments.

"The action of your government in averting war in the Pacific," said his holiness to Cardinal O'Connell, "is worthy of the praise of the whole world."

The orders directed open mass meetings in preparation for the strike.

DEFICIENCY BILL BEGUN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Preparation of a deficiency appropriation bill will be begun shortly by a subcommittee of the House appropriation committee, Chairman Madden, announced today. The measure, he said, will be ready for the House in a few weeks and passage will be expedited to relieve urgent deficiencies which have arisen in various government departments.

Estimates totaling $180,704,281 have been transmitted by President Harding for the consideration of the subcommittee which will draft the bill. Accompanying Mr. Harding's letter was one from Budget Director Davies giving in detail the needs of 17 departments and bureaus which had requested additional funds.

BRITISH EXCHANGE STILL ADVANCING

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—British exchange resumed its upward course here today. London demand bills mounting to $424 3-4. The movement was marked by only a slight reaction. Other European exchanges moved forward in sympathy. The Italian rate showing greatest strength at a gain of 10 points and Belgian and French bills rising 4 and 8 points respectively.

Sisters in beauty

Two pretty girls, sharing the same beauty secret, although one lived 3,000 years ago. Girls who both know that a fresh, smooth, radiant skin is not only woman's greatest charm, but one within the reach of every woman.

For pretty girls used Palmolive

For pretty girls used Palmolive as they do today. The crude combination of palm and olive oils which served as beautifying cleanser was the inspiration of the familiar Palmolive cake, famous for its mildness the world over.

Modern science, with all its progress, can find no milder, more soothing cleansers than these two ancient oils. It can only perfect their combination and offer it in the most efficient and convenient form.

Gives a perfect skin

To state that just washing your face every day will give you that all-desired fresh, smooth skin may sound too simple to be true. But such cleanliness is the foundation of complexion beauty, for this reason:

The accumulations of dirt, oil and perspiration, cold cream and powder must be removed or they will collect and clog the tiny pores which compose the surface of the skin.

Not for face alone

Don't forget that your neck and throat are also conspicuous for skin beauty or the lack of it, and that this is where age first shows.

Such clogging enlarges, which soon results in coarse texture, and the imbedded dirt causes blackheads, and when it carries infection, eruptions follow.

There is no beauty in such a neglected skin, which repels when it should attract, and prevents popularity and social success.

Arms and shoulders should be kept smooth and white and hands must be beautified.

Use Palmolive for bathing and these results are insured, with the comfort of a skin which always feels luxuriously smooth.

Not extravagant at the price

If Palmolive was a very expensive soap, such advice would mean extravagance. But the firm, long weaging cake of general size costs only 10 cents.

The reason is gigantic production which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and the importation of the bland, mild oils in the vast volume which reduces cost.

Thus this finest facial soap, which if made in small quantities would cost at least 25 cents, is offered at the popular price which all can afford for every toilet purpose.

HOW DOES WALTER JOHNSON PITCH TO RUTH?

Walter Johnson, premier pitcher of the major leagues, says the hardest question for him to answer is: "How do you pitch to Babe Ruth?" But he answers the question in one of his series of stories that started today on the sport page of The Register.

Johnson has written these stories for The Register. He knows the inside and the outside of baseball pitching. And he'll let you who are on the outside, in on the inside through his articles.

What is a pitcher's greatest asset? Has baseball improved or slowed up in the past 15 years? What help is a catcher to a pitcher?

If anybody can answer these questions, as well as many other important baseball queries, Johnson can. He has had just 15 years' experience in the American league. Started out in the high ranks with the Washington team in 1907 and he's been there ever since. Follow Johnson in the daily Register.

LESSONS IN FIRE PREVENTION.

The destruction yesterday of the Lexington Hotel at Richmond, the Washington disaster several days ago and the numerous costly fires which this city has experienced since the beginning of the year, all point to the wisdom of an effective building code—something which Danville has not yet got but something which she tried to get under the old council regime when the proposal was offered but never adopted. If Danville had had a building code there would not have been such damage as was actually done in the Miller building and is 1920 when the disastrous fire swept clean a section of Main street. It would not have swept so far if certain fundamentals in the building of safe structures had been recognized.

The catastrophe in Richmond which took its toll of human life is rather remarkable for a city of that size where there is a building code. It is pointed out that the fire gained its hold and swept through the central air shaft to the roof skylight before the alarm was given and when the people in the hotel were aroused they found the ordinary means of exit as well as the fire escapes cut off. This terrible situation is sufficient to show that the building was dangerous and the wonder is that it was not recognized as such in time to avert the tragedy now recorded.

Unless we profit by the lessons taught us at home as well as in other cities, Danville will continue to be a major risk, that is so long as the reconstruction of destroyed buildings is undertaken without conforming to recognized standards of safety from fire. This does not necessarily mean the replacement of burned structures by newly-erected buildings which, however, do not, are expensive and which call for the investment of sums which property owners are not always prepared to make, but with a view to isolating various parts of buildings and making the dangerous element more easy to restrict, exceptional care is the installation of electrical devices, more careful scrutiny of wiring arrangement and the systematic inspection of these, and with the vesting of power on building inspectors to have certain faults rectified. The question resolves itself to the choice of a policy which may be disadvantageous to property owners because of expenses involved in conforming to a fire code or leaving the city and especially the retail and while sale section, where a fire code would be naturally made to apply, a read: prey to a destructive element which has made such inroads on insurance companies within the past few months as to suggest the possibility of the withdrawal of certain companies just as was done many years ago after the serious Bridge street fire.

DRAKES BRANCH, February 8.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—According to the view of many patient, law-abiding and tax-paying citizens, something must be done to curb the tendency to load the statute books with a multiplicity of laws every time the legislature meets. Instead of adding to the already voluminous code which does not devote one season to repealing several of the dead-letter and out-of-date laws. For the appalling situation, Colonel Holcomb offers the following remedy, clipped from the Times-Dispatch:

Legislators Then Were Careful.

In Grote's truly "monumental" work, among a thousand interesting stories is one about a Greek city that had a curious and not wholly uncommendable custom. The citizens of that city liked its code of laws and were opposed to changes in it and additions to it. Still, they admitted the possibility of improvement. So it was provided that anybody who chose could suggest a new law as an amendment to the old one, but he was required to present his proposal standing before the assembled people with a rope around his neck. They listened to him and then took a vote. If they approved of his law, it went into the code; if they decided against it, they hanged him with his rope—doing it immediately, so that there might be no further argument for him.

This tale is recalled by, and perhaps is relevant to, the news from Albany that in the first two weeks of the legislative session 587 bills have been introduced.

The number probably would have been reduced considerably if every bill that failed to pass meant a hanging.

A PERFECT DAY

(By Carrie Jacobs-Bond)

When you come to the end of a perfect day
And you sit alone with your thought
While the chimes ring out with a carol gay
For the joy that the day has brought,
Do you think what the end of a perfect day
Can mean to a tired heart
When the sun goes down with a flaming ray
And the dear friends have to part?

Well, this is the end of a perfect day.
Near the end of a journey, too,
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong.

With a wish that is kind and true,
For memory has painted this perfect day
With colors that never fade,
And we find, at the end of a perfect day,
The soul of a friend we've made.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—"We can be what we want to be, despite everything, if we set our minds and hearts on it."

"Adversity is an opportunity."

"I'm glad I've been poor; it makes one more human. But I don't want to be starving poor any more!"

Such is the creed of a woman who, left widowed and practically penniless at 30, has made fame and fortune in two lines of endeavor: first as a composer of songs, second as publisher of the output of her brain.

This woman is Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, best known as the author-composer of "A Perfect Day."

When you meet the Mrs. Bond of today, prosperous, exquisitely gowned, gracious, cultured, it is difficult to picture her as battling poverty 20 years ago.

"When I was only four," Mrs. Bond said, "I could pick out on the piano any melody I heard. But in the little Wisconsin town where I spent my childhood, no special attention was given to this gift."

"When in my early twenties I married Mr. Frank Bond, we lived at Iron River, Mich. Most of my husband's passengers were among the poor miners. For two years following the end of 1893, my husband virtually doctored the poor gratis."

A PERFECT DAY

(By Carrie Jacobs-Bond)

When you come to the end of a perfect day
And you sit alone with your thought
While the chimes ring out with a carol gay
For the joy that the day has brought,
Do you think what the end of a perfect day
Can mean to a tired heart
When the sun goes down with a flaming ray
And the dear friends have to part?

Well, this is the end of a perfect day.
Near the end of a journey, too,
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong.

With a wish that is kind and true,
For memory has painted this perfect day
With colors that never fade,
And we find, at the end of a perfect day,
The soul of a friend we've made.

U. S. Ships Now Off Cuba To Practice

GUANTANAMO, Cuba, Feb. 8.—The entire Atlantic fleet, U. S. navy, as now organized, is at anchor today in the spacious bay that stretches out from the naval station on the southeastern end of Cuba. Since early in January the battleship force, with its auxiliaries, has been at Guacanayabo gulf, 189 miles to the west of here, in active practice.

Arriving on the U. S. S. Columbia, flagship of the fleet, Admiral Hilary F. Jones, U. S. N., found the personnel of the four forces in their preparatory work with a display of eagerness for training and a spirit for real effort that points a way to a fine efficiency.

Admiral Jones believes that sailors should be trained on ships and ships at sea and that exactly the essence of the program here.

The ships now present on the southeastern coast of Cuba are the Columbia, the fleet flagship, which is commanded by Capt. J. K. Taussig; the Wyoming, the flag of Vice-Admiral J. D. McDonald, commanding the battleship force; Arkansas, flagship of division five, with Rear Admiral A. H. Scales; Delaware, North Dakota, Florida, flagship of the central force, with Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully; destroyer operative squadrons, Capt. T. T. Craven, commander the Black Hawk, tender; submarine squadrons in command of Capt. Chester Wells, and the ships of the train and train tugs, in command of Capt. L. D. Steigler on the flagship Olympia.

This naval station was leased from Cuba in 1903 and since then has been the scene of the annual assembling of the ships of the Atlantic fleet. It contains about 50 square miles and at the head of an expansive bay, with plenty of deep water, it lies in the picturesque Guantanamo valley, at the back of which are the hills from which much of the Cuban ore is mined. The station has the largest small-arm target range on the island and every facility for outdoor sports. It is an uncommon sight during the hours of shore liberty to see half a dozen spirited baseball games going on at once. Athletic events make up the shore liberty time of the men, and there is a great rivalry also in the cutter races, which attract widespread attention through the fleet.

The main detachments with the fleet are also engaged in an active schedule, including landing parties, the taking ashore of field pieces and always the work at the rifle range.

It is this continuous training on ships and with the things that belong to ships with the side play of athletics that soon builds the men up and brings them to toe the navy mark. During the stay of the ships here there will be battle practice, day and night, spotting, work in the turrets, and big gun firing at the targets as well as maneuvers.

A detachment of aircraft of the F-5 type will operate with the fleet. The ships will remain in southern waters until April and then return to home yards for overhaul.

Another Drive to Force Bergdoll's Return Is on

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—War veterans in Congress, backed by ex-service men generally, are preparing to launch another drive to secure the return to this country of Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader.

The first move will be the introduction of a resolution calling on the State Department and Department of Justice to "get busy." If this is passed, an effort will be made to get before the House the report of the special committee which investigated the escape of Bergdoll while hunting a pot of gold.

While details are closely guarded, it is known members who saw service during the war have worked out a plan that they are sure will result in getting Bergdoll, who is now thought to be in Switzerland.

"If Congress will act quickly when we say the word," Representative Fitzgerald of Ohio, said today, "we can have Bergdoll back in America within six months."

Representative Walter Lineberger of California is now in Europe, and it is understood he will seize the opportunity to make a personal investigation along the lines of the plan worked out by the ex-service men in Congress. No intimation whatever is obtainable as to the nature of these plans.

"To reveal them at this time, even on the floor, would be fatal," Representative Fitzgerald said.

Navy Acts To End Liquor Smuggling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A favorite pastime of men in the navy who like a bit of toddy is to be broken, is a serious matter to slip a bunch of liquor aboard a naval vessel in the West Indies and smuggle it into the good old dry U. S. A. At any rate, this is the experience of five chief petty officers of the U. S. S. Redwing, each of whom must serve one year in a naval prison, suffer a reduction in rank, to that of second class seaman, and at the end of his sojourn in prison go into the cold world with a disreputable discharge.

The five men are: K. Koch, chief boatswain's mate; Carl G. Hirschopp, commissary steward; Vernon B. Gley, chief quartermaster's mate; Edward Kerner, chief machinist's mate, and John Walsh, chief water tender.

The five men together with one commissioned officer and one a warrant officer whose cases have not yet been concluded, were involved in an alleged conspiracy to smuggle liquor into the United States on a naval vessel. On or about November 10 the liquor was discovered on board the Redwing at Guantanamo, Cuba.

In accordance with naval regulations a general court martial was convened to try the C. S. O. S.

Strange Stone Image Is Found In Kansas Mine

PARSONS, Kan., Feb. 7.—Dug out of a coal mine, 200 feet below the surface, a strange stone image rests today in the home of Sam Jenkins, a miner living between Welch and Blue Jet, across the Oklahoma line.

Is it the petrified remains of a prehistoric man—the likeness of the first American caveman?

Or is it merely a strange freak of nature in molding the human image during the formation of the coal strata?

The image is of black rock. Jenkins, digging coal in the end of a drift mine, uncovered it. It is a trifle more than the average human size, showing a deep barrel chest, heavily-muscled arms and legs and a big well-rounded head, with flattened forehead and features and powerful wide jaws. The neck is thick and short, the head almost nestling between the huge shoulders.

The image is imperfect, for there are no hands or feet.

Before discovering the image Jenkins, working along the vein of coal, unearthed the footprints of some huge prehistoric animal. The prints were perfectly formed in the shale, were in the same location where remains of a prehistoric animal were unearthed a few years ago.

Hundreds of persons have flocked to the miner's cabin to look at the strange image. The image has the appearance of a man squatting.

Favor Government By City Manager

ROANOKE, Feb. 7.—The special election held in Salem today, went in favor of city manager government with a sweeping majority of 396 votes. Votes were cast in the three

First ward—94 for city manager, 32 against.

Second ward—142 for; 32 against.

Third ward—228 for; 19 against. Total—464 for, and 68 against.

There are approximately 750 qualified voters in Salem and of these 32 went to the polls, evidencing the widespread interest that has been taken in this matter of municipal government. It is thought that fully 100 more voters would have gone out had it not been for the inclemency of the weather and prevailing illness.

With this change of government in prospect the public now faces the im-

Regrouping Is Hit At Tucker

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 7.—Political observers protest to one of the congressional redistricting plans a blow aimed at Harry St. George Tucker. The proposed delineations are that Mr. Tucker will be nominated as the Democratic candidate for congress from the Tenth district and that his election will follow as a matter of course. But this nomination and election will be only for the unexpected term of the late Congressman Flood and if the general assembly should adopt the proposed congressional redistricting plan Mr. Tucker would find himself out of the Tenth district and in the Seventh by the time he ran again.

While the proposed bill is declared to be designed mainly to so arrange the Sixth and Ninth districts to give a chance of eliminating C. Bascom Stearns, Republican, from congress it also plays havoc with some of the other districts. It would place Mr. Tucker's county of Rockbridge in district countries where the "organization" is particularly strong. It is true that Augusta and Staunton, Tucker's strongholds, would go along with Rockbridge, but their votes would be swamped by those of Frederick, Shenandoah, Rockingham, Harrisonburg, Winchester, Buena Vista and other "organization" localities.

Congressman Walter H. Newton of Minnesota throwing the first ball at the opening of the baseball seas on last year at Minneapolis.

"Play Ball!"

That's the cry which rang out across the diamond at Minneapolis last spring when Congressman Walter H. Newton opened the baseball season. Tonight, in the Elks' auditorium, at eight o'clock, the Congressman from the Fifth district of Minnesota will strike the keynote of the campaign of the Young Men's Business Club for one thousand members, which is to be launched Thursday morning. The keynote of the campaign is "Play Ball."

For four years Mr. Newton was prosecuting attorney of Minneapolis and during the last four years, as a

BALL MAGNATES
MEET IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Baseball magnates of the American League were gathering here tonight preparatory to the meeting of the league tomorrow to ratify the schedule drafted for the 1922 season.

Club owners who had arrived tonight without exception predicted a quiet session devoted almost entirely to routine business. There were prospects, however, of some discussion of plans for effecting restoration of the draft and although there was the usual talk of imminent trade of players the only deal of which the magnates had any definite information concerned the New York and Detroit clubs and even in that case the names of players involved were a matter wholly of conjecture.

The magnates, it was said in some quarters, probably would await the White House to pay their respects to President Harding, who is somewhat of a baseball fan, before beginning their session scheduled for afternoon.

The meeting here tomorrow will be the first the league has ever held outside of New York or Chicago.

Make Address TonightNEW EVIDENCE AGAINST SANDS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—A complaint charging Edward F. Sands, alias Edward F. Stratton, with the murder of his former employer, William Desmond Taylor, will be issued. It was declared today by Detective Sergeant Edward King of the police department. The complaint will be based on "new and conclusive" evidence uncovered today, according to King.

Sands is now a fugitive from justice, as charges of grand larceny and burglary, preferred against him by Taylor, never have been dismissed. It was said that the new complaint might be issued against him tomorrow.

Guards remain on duty tonight about the home of Mary Miles Minter who admitted today she was the writer of a letter to Taylor containing the phrase "I love you" repeated three times and followed by a series of crosses. The guards were employed to protect the actress against uninvited callers.

STRIKE CALLED OFF.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The railway strike has been called off. The strikers' committee late tonight notified Chancellor Wirth that the men would resume work, conditionally, on the government's assurance that it would refrain from reprisals in the nature of wholesale discharges. The government reserves the right to reprimand the leaders, but promised that the regular workers would be reinstated.
